NEW LOCAL BAND INVITING YOU TO PARTICIPATE

Local start-up Christian Band in Alamogordo is looking for ministry, worship and outreach minded christian believers to join their ministry team.

Our band consists of a worship lead vocalist and back-up vocalists, a drummer and two rhythm guitarists.

We are in immediate need of of a Bass Player and lead guitarist, as well as other musicians who may want to contribute their gifts and talents to leading others in worship of our lord.

Perhaps you play saxophone, violin, trumpet, flute, harmonica or other instrument and would like to be part of our team of worship in the Southern new Mexico area.

We ask that only hard-core and mature christians who are sold out 100% and beyond, express an interest in joining our ranks, as we plan to be intense and radical about our worship.

We will be part of an up and coming ministry in Alamogordo called "Saturday Night Worship", where we will be have regular opportunities to minister in instrument and song and joining a community of other worship ministries in the alamogordo area.

If this fits you and you are ready to worship with us in your talents and gifts, call Jason Karrer @ 575-491-3507 or email at jskarr@aol.com

Disguised Synthetic Drugs Draw Closer Scrutiny

NEW MARKET, Md. — The storage facility just past the quaint frame houses and antiques shops pressed against this town's Main Street held more than furniture and heirlooms that could no longer fit into people's homes.

Authorities say Unit 3019, steps from the main office, was being used to package the latest fad in designer narcotics — synthetic drugs sold as benign bath salts and herbal potpourri, with names such as "Snowblind Bath Salts," "Zombie World" and "Dark Night Sampler."

A recent arrest in Howard County, Md., led federal drug agents to the town this month. At New Market Mini Storage, court documents say, agents seized two barrels of white powder, a stimulant that when inhaled produces an effect similar to cocaine; and packages of the recently banned drug "K2" or "spice," doctored vegetable matter commonly marketed as synthetic marijuana.

Agents with the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration have not arrested the man who rented the storage unit, but a search warrant filed in U.S. District Court details an investigation that spans the Baltimore and Washington metropolitan areas.

The Myth of Killer Mercury

Panicking people about fish is no way to protect public health.

By WILLIE SOON AND PAUL DRIESSEN

The Environmental Protection Agency recently issued 946 pages of new rules requiring that U.S. power plants sharply reduce their (already low) emissions of mercury and other air pollutants. EPA Administrator Lisa Jackson claims that while the regulations will cost electricity producers $10.9 billion annually, they will save 17,000 lives and generate up to $140 billion in health benefits.

There is no factual basis for these assertions. To build its case against mercury, the EPA systematically ignored evidence and clinical studies that contradict its regulatory agenda, which is to punish hydrocarbon use.

Mercury has always existed naturally in Earth's environment. A 2009 study found mercury deposits in Antarctic ice across 650,000 years. Mercury is found in air, water, rocks, soil and trees, which absorb it from the environment. This is why our bodies evolved with proteins and antioxidants that help protect us from this and other potential contaminants.

Another defense comes from selenium, which is found in fish and animals. Its strong attraction to mercury molecules protects fish and people against buildups of methylmercury, mercury's biologically active and more toxic form. Even so, the 200,000,000 tons of mercury naturally present in seawater have never posed a danger to any living being.

How do America's coal-burning power plants fit into the picture? They emit an estimated 41-48 tons of mercury per year. But U.S. forest fires emit at least 44 tons per year; cremation of human remains discharges 26 tons; Chinese power plants eject 400 tons; and volcanoes, subsea vents, geysers and other sources spew out 9,000-10,000 additional tons per year.

All these emissions enter the global atmospheric system and become part of the U.S. air mass. Since our power plants account for less than 0.5% of all the mercury in the air we breathe, eliminating every milligram of it will do nothing about the other 99.5% in our atmosphere.

In the face of these minuscule risks, the EPA nevertheless demands that utility companies spend billions every year retrofitting coal-fired power plants that produce half of all U.S. electricity.

According to the Centers for Disease Control's National Health and Nutrition Examination Survey, which actively monitors mercury exposure, blood mercury counts for U.S. women and children decreased steadily from 1999-2008,

AFOSI Detachment 228

5/18/2011 - MINOT AIR FORCE BASE, N.D. -- For the past two years, the synthetic marijuana commonly known as spice, has become more prevalent in the military. In February, the military began testing for spice. And in that same month, the Air Force Office of Special Investigation, Detachment 228, began investigating a narcotics ring on Air Force Global Strike Command's Minot Air Force Base.

In April, AFOSI received positive results from urinalysis for the synthetics JWC-018 and JWC-073. These are synthetics outlined by the Drug Enforcement Administration as illegal schedule one narcotics, the same synthetics used in spice. Schedule one narcotics are described by the DEA as narcotics possessing no medicinal value, and they often carry heftier penalties, including at least one year in prison.

There are many reasons why spice has become attractive to young military members. Spice over the last two years was more accessible than alcohol, and it still is for underage Airmen. Additionally, before spice testing was available, it was harder to detect because of the potpourri like odor it produces and the lack of law enforcement officers being knowledgeable on the new drug.

Today, Airmen are ordering, buying, and smoking spice everyday because dealers, head shops, and the internet are telling them it produces the same effects as marijuana and that it is untraceable. However, we know it is very traceable. And while it may be mind-altering, we simply don't know what the long-term effects of spice may be on the human body.

The Department of Defense and the Air Force have a zero tolerance policy on mind-altering products, including spice. Using spice can lead to discharge from the military without benefits, which includes losing your Montgomery G.I. Bill.

Despite popular belief, the Air Force can test for synthetic marijuana and synthetic cannabis. Many Airmen falsely believe they can only be convicted if they are caught carrying the drug. They are wrong. The military can and does test for these drugs, and a positive test is proof enough to cause an Airman to lose a career.

Public health officials are concerned about the surge in the use of synthetic drugs such as "bath salts" because they are unregulated by the government. People believe the synthetic drugs are a safe alternative, and they're widely available on the Internet.

"This is nothing new, but it's part of the newest wave of designer drugs," said Dr. Peter L. Beilenson, the health officer for Howard County.

Beilenson, the former health commissioner in Baltimore, said dealers try to bypass government regulation by varying chemical compounds. "The bigger issue is that it's completely unregulated."

Though called "bath salts," the drug does not contain the ingredients of traditional bath salts found in conventional stores. There "can be any number of toxic substances," Beilenson said. "You don't know what you are getting."

The bath salts, also commonly called "plant food," are marketed as a legal alternative to cocaine, amphetamines or Ecstasy. Users have reported suffering chest pains, elevated blood pressure and heart rate, as well as panic attacks and delusions.

Health officials say poison control centers nationwide have reported more cases involving bath salts over the past few years.

The chemicals used in bath salts are already banned in several states, including West Virginia, Florida and Louisiana, as well as in some European countries. But they remain widely available over the Internet and even at local head shops, packaged and marketed as not to be ingested.

"People think, 'It is legal, it must be OK,'" said Special Agent Edward Marcinko, spokesman for DEA's Baltimore office. While the packaging is misleading, he said, users know how to use the drug because of videos on the Internet.

Geoff Gentry, who has owned Elevation Underground smoke shop in Towson, Md., since 2007, said customers began asking for bath salts late last year, and he still gets calls, including one that came as he was speaking to a reporter last week.

"People are so afraid of losing their jobs because of drug tests," he said, so they look for alternatives that are not detected. "(Distributors) are capitalizing on the whole random drug test thing," he said, adding that "the populace of people after this stuff is astounding."

And when there's a demand, there's a supplier. "I go to trade shows, and the stuff is practically thrown at me," he said.

But Gentry said he's never been interested in selling bath salts or spice. "To me, it's really a moral question. I just sleep better at night knowing I'm not encouraging this synthetic drug."

The ingredients used in bath salts have not been outlawed. But in March, the DEA did ban for at least a year the sale of the five chemicals used in herbal blends to make synthetic marijuana, including spice, which consists of leaves coated with chemicals that provide a high similar to marijuana when smoked.

DEA officials noted dangerous reactions in users, including seizures, hallucinations and dependency. Baltimore County banned spice last year.

This past winter, eight Naval Academy midshipmen were expelled for using or possessing it.

Law enforcement authorities are ratcheting up their scrutiny. Federal authorities were led to the alleged drug-packing center in New Market in May after an employee at an Elkridge UPS Store alerted police to a suspicious package, similar to one that was found containing drugs at a Glen Burnie store. Two women attempted to pick up the package from China that was addressed to the "AJ Fertilizer Group," according to Howard County police charging documents.

Howard County police arrested Blair Amanda Beebe, 21, of Chester, Va., and Sara Pelter, 21, of Hopewell, Va., as they tried to pick up the package, which was being sent to the "Sunshine Corporation." Both women were charged with drug possession and drug distribution.

Police said the package contained five bags of off-white powder marked with the elements of "JWH-018," one of four chemical synthetic cannabinoids banned in March. Federal drug agents took over the case from there.

According to documents filed in U.S. District Court, Beebe told detectives that she was ordered by a man named "Moe" to pick up similar packages at 11 UPS stores around Baltimore and Washington, all addressed to fake businesses, such as the "Farmers Group." She was then instructed to deliver the packages to "Raul" at the storage unit in New Market. Beebe did not return calls seeking comment.

Authorities raided the storage facility on May 10 and reported seizing, in addition to the two barrels, 117 4-pound bags of leaves reportedly to be used for the synthetic marijuana, boxes of resealable plastic bags and rolls of silver packaging material.

Authorities determined the white powder found in the barrels was MDPV, a psychoactive drug that the federal Food and Drug Administration says has no approved use but is a common ingredient in bath salts. The agents also said in their warrant that they found drugs packaged as "herbal potpourri and not for human consumption." Both drugs were improperly labeled, which is illegal, the DEA said.

The search warrant application filed in court identifies the storage bin owner as Mahd "Moe" Abu Jamous, who authorities say manages retail websites such as <http://www.spice99.com>. He also did not return calls seeking comment.

Federal court documents say that the site also informed potential buyers of the DEA ban and said that JWH-018 was not detectable. Authorities said that shows the sellers intended to market the products for drug use, and not as they were labeled.

After the raids, the spice99 website had this message to customers: "All Orders As Of May 3, 2011 Have NOT Been Processed Due To A Significant Warehouse Fire." The site instructs buyers on how to receive a refund and encourages them to shop the "Selection Of Glass Pipes and Sexual Enhancements."

And even as authorities deal with bath salts, health officials are warning of yet another synthetic drug, called 2C-E, which mimics LSD and Ecstasy. That too is becoming common, said Mike Gimbel, who runs an anti-drug program at St. Joseph Medical Center in Towson.

"It's a cat-and-mouse game of chemists versus the government," Gimbel said. "It's similar to the battle with steroids 10 years ago. (The government) would ban it, and then the chemists would alter the chemical compound," he said.

"China white" was a commonly used term for synthetic heroin, which he said was deadlier because of its higher potency, and which led to overdoses.

"Now you've got a synthetic version of just about every drug," he said. The Internet not only makes them more readily available, but videos that pop up on sites like YouTube also show people how to take the drugs.

"You ban this stuff and something newer comes along," said Beilenson, the Howard County health officer. The best approach, he said, "is to educate kids as to why parents think this is not a good idea. It's just a dangerous substance to put into your body."

Uncategorized Liquid Spice Available

A new form of Spice is now available over the internet and it's in liquid form. The Liquid Spice advertisement details how it can be used to get you high, using any common vaporizer. The liquid Spice is powerful and intoxicating. It is more powerful than THC and does not show up on common drug tests used for THC. The only available tests for Spice are through labs like Redwood or AVEE labs. A common 10 or 12 panel drug placing today's counts well below the already excessively safe level established by the EPA. A 17-year evaluation of mercury risk to babies and children by the Seychelles Children Development Study found "no measurable cognitive or behavioral effects" in children who eat several servings of ocean fish every week, much more than most Americans do.

The World Health Organization and U.S. Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry assessed these findings in setting mercury-risk standards that are two to three times less restrictive than the EPA's.

The EPA ignored these findings. Instead, the agency based its "safe" mercury criteria on a study of Faroe Islanders, whose diet is far removed from our own. They eat few fruits and vegetables, but they do feast on pilot-whale meat and blubber that is laced with mercury and polychlorinated biphenyls (PCBs)—but very low in selenium. The study has limited relevance to U.S. populations.

As a result, the EPA's actions can be counted on to achieve only one thing—which is to further advance the Obama administration's oft-stated goal of penalizing hydrocarbon use and driving a transition to unreliable renewable energy.

The proposed standards will do nothing to reduce exaggerated threats from mercury and other air pollutants. Indeed, the rules will worsen America's health and well-being—especially for young children and women of child-bearing age. Not only will they raise heating, air conditioning and food costs, but they will scare people away from eating nutritious fish that should be in everyone's diet.

America needs affordable, reliable electricity. It needs better health and nutrition. It needs an EPA that focuses on real risks, instead of wasting hard-earned taxpayer and consumer dollars fabricating dangers and evidence.

750 days is a long time, more than two years in fact. But imagine not doing your job for more than 750 days. Do you think you'd still have a job? Would you ask your boss for a raise with that kind of track record? Would your family be proud of you?

Throughout our history as a nation, Americans have proven that they have the drive, knowledge, courage and conviction to do just about anything they set their mind to—and they've often done it in less than 750 days. Here are just a few milestones that come to mind:

584 Days: The length of time America spent in World War I, from the declaration of war to Armistice Day.

465 Days: The length of time it took to build the Empire State Building.

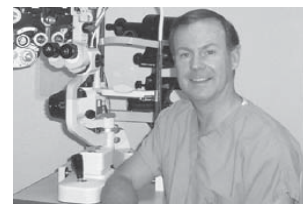

250 Days: The approximate length of time it took Orville and Wilbur Wright to design, build, launch and fly their first powered aircraft.

234 Days: The length of time it took to build a highway connecting Alaska to the contiguous U.S.

133 Days: The length of the first Constitutional Convention.

VISION FOR TODAY

EYE HEALTH INFORMATION DRY EYES

Tears are essential for nourishment and lubrication of the human eye. Every time you blink, you're washing your eyes with tears produced by the lacrimal glands in your upper eyelids. These glands will produce extra tears in response to irritation and inflammation. Tears normally drain out of the eye and into the nose through ducts located in the corners of your eyes.

But people with watery eyes experience an overproduction of tears. These excess tears can be caused by:

- Dry eye syndrome. It may not make sense, but dry eyes often lead to watery eyes. When eyes dry out, they become irritated and uncomfortable. That prompts the lacrimal glands to produce so many tears that they overwhelm the eye's natural drainage system.
- Allergies. Reaction to allergens can cause your eyes to become red and irritated, prompting tear production. Pollens, mold spores, dust mites, and animal dander are just some of the allergens that can cause the eyes to water.
- Infections. Part of your body's response to an eye infection can be to produce excess tears — to keep the eye lubricated and wash away germs and discharge. Conjunctivitis (infection of the thin, clear membrane covering most of the eye) and blepharitis (infection of the eyelid margins) are two infectious diseases known to cause watery eyes.
- Irritants. Your eyes produce excess tears in response to other types of irritation, too, be it dry air, bright light, wind, smoke, dust, an eyelash, or exposure to chemicals. Eyestrain also can cause watery eyes.

Watery eyes may also be due to a blockage of the ducts that normally drain away tears, although this is less common.

Most often, watery eyes are a symptom rather than a cause of eye distress. Sure, they can be an annoyance, but excess tears are usually not considered a warning sign of a more serious problem.

How Watery Eyes are Diagnosed and Treated

You should consult your Optometrist if you are experiencing:

- Unexplained tearing over a long period
- Eyes that are red and producing discharge
- Watery eyes and eye pain
- Watery eyes and sore sinuses

Your doctor will examine your eyes, perform tests on the quantity and quality of your tears, and examine how your eyes drain away tears. If you have an infection, the doctor can prescribe antibiotics, or suggest more sophisticated treatments if dry eyes or allergies are to blame.

The bottom line? If your watery eyes don't clear up with over-the-counter treatment, you should get medical attention to make you more comfortable.

Dr. Marquardt - July Article

test cup will not detect Spice, so the urine must be sent to one of these labs for analysis.

Spice, otherwise known as K2, is a powerful drug that mimics the effects of marijuana, but is stronger and in my own experience, more addictive than heroin. No one knows yet how harmful the drug Spice is, but it has been blamed for deaths, ER visits, and more recently I have heard that it actually caused a psychotic break.

Spice is still legal in many states and readily available over the internet. It is odorless, despite being called incense it smells a little like oregano, and undetectable. Any client or patient in a drug rehab could have it shipped to their drug rehab from an internet source, use it, and have no worries about getting caught unless the drug rehab knew what to look for.

The military has recognized the Spice epidemic and it is becoming a big problem. Like drug rehabs, the military regularly tests its soldiers, but like drug rehab clients, soldiers will try and beat the system and the drug Spice is a great drug if someone wants to get high and not get caught. The military, like some drug rehabs, lacks the funding to send out all of their drug tests to a lab that can test for Spice. So while drug rehabs are tackling the Spice epidemic by sending their urinalysis tests to labs that can test for the drug, the military is in a bit of a predicament. The test for Spice is expensive, so people wanting to identify users of the drug must be aware of the symptoms.

What to Look for – Symptoms of Spice Abuse:

In my experience with Spice, one of the main symptoms of Spice use/abuse is aggression and agitation after use.

A person on Spice will look high. It is unmistakable. The person under the influence of Spice will look like they are high on marijuana. If the person looks like they are high on marijuana, but comes up negative on a THC drug urinalysis test, then send the UA to the lab and have it tested for Spice.

The drug looks like oregano and smells like it. It is almost indistinguishable from a common spice (hence the name). It can be purchased in small amounts and cheaply from any head shop or over the internet.

Everyone I know who has smoked the drug, while reporting that they didn't particularly enjoy the high produced, continued to smoke it – a sign that it is highly addictive. In talking openly with clients in drug rehab, and out of drug rehab, who started smoking Spice in drug rehab, they told me that they tried to stop smoking Spice but could not, even when they wanted to. The people I have talked to over the years who were smoking Spice would rather smoke marijuana, but because they were required to drug test frequently, could not, and therefore diverted to using Spice. Unfortunately, when people want to quit using Spice, they invariably find that they cannot.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT ANIMALS

There is only one recorded battle in which both sides used elephants. In the Fourth Syrian War, in 217 B.C., Antiochus III of Syria used Asian elephants when attacking Ptolemy IV's Egyptian army with its smaller North African elephants (now extinct). While the Asian elephants were victorious, the Egyptian army would go on to win a smashing victory at Raphia on the Egyptian border.

THE SON OF SATAN

I think George Soros would take great pried in being called the anti-christ.
STEVE KROFT (60 Minutes)

Glen Beck has been developing material to show all the ties that Soros has through the nation and world along with his goals. This article is written by Steve Kroft from 60 Minutes. It begins to piece together the rise of Obama and his behavior in leading the nation along with many members of Congress (in particular the Democrats, such as the election of Pelosi recently to the minority leader position in Congress): This is almost too scary to contemplate.

If you have wondered where Obama came from and just how he quickly moved from obscurity to President or by the media is "selective" in what we are told, here is the man who most probably put him there and is responsible. He controls President Obama's every move. Think this is absurd? Invest a few minutes and read this. You won't regret it.

Who is Obama? Obama is a puppet and here is the explanation of the man or demon who pulls his strings. It's not by chance that Obama can manipulate the world. I don't think he knows how to tie his shoe laces.

After reading this and Obama's reluctance to accept help on the oil spill you wonder if the spill is part of the plan to destroy the US?

"In history, nothing happens by accident. If it happened, you can bet someone planned it." [Franklin Delano Roosevelt]

Who Is George Soros? He brought the market down in 2 days. Here is what Steve Kroft's (CBS) research has turned up. It's a bit of a read, and it took 4 months to put it together.

"The main obstacle to a stable and just world order is the United States." [George Soros]

George Soros is an evil man. He's anti-God, anti-family, anti-American and anti-good. He killed and robbed his own Jewish people. What we have in Soros, is a multi-billionaire atheist, with skewed moral values, and a sociopath's lack of conscience. He considers himself to be an elitist world-class philosopher, despises the American way, and loves to do social engineering and change cultures.

György Schwartz, better known to the world as George Soros, was born August 12, 1930 in Hungary. Soros' father, Tivadar, was a fervent practitioner of the Esperanto language invented in 1887, and designed to be the first global language, free of any national identity. The Schwartz's, who were non-practicing Jews, changed the family name to Soros in order to facilitate assimilation into the gentile population as the Nazis spread into Hungary during the 1930s.

When Hitler's henchman, Adolf Eichmann, arrived in Hungary to oversee the murder of that country's Jews, George Soros ended up with a man whose job was confiscating property from the Jewish population. Soros went with him on his rounds. Soros has repeatedly called 1944 "(T)he best year of his life."

Seventy percent of Soros's fellow Jews in Hungary, nearly a half-million human beings, were annihilated in that year, yet he gives no sign that this put any damper on his elation, either at the time or indeed in retrospect.

During an interview with 60 Minutes' Steve Kroft, Soros was asked about his "best year."

KROFT: My understanding is that you went out with this protector of yours who swore that you were his adopted godson.

SOROS: Yes. Yes.

KROFT: Went out, in fact, and helped in the confiscation of property from your fellow Jews, friends and neighbors.

SOROS: Yes. That's right. Yes.

KROFT: I mean, that sounds like an experience that would send lots of people to the psychiatric couch for many, many years. Was it difficult?

SOROS: No, not at all. Not at all, I rather enjoyed it.

KROFT: No feelings of guilt?

SOROS: No, only feelings of absolute power.

In his article, Muravchik describes how Soros has admitted to having carried some rather "potent messianic fantasies with me from childhood, which I felt I had to control, otherwise they might get me in trouble." Be that as it may, after WW II, Soros attended the London School of Economics where he fell under the thrall of fellow atheist and Hungarian, Karl Popper, one of his professors. Popper was a mentor to Soros until Popper's death in 1994. Two of Popper's most influential teachings concerned "the open society," and fallibilism.

Fallibilism is the philosophical doctrine that all claims of knowledge could, in principle, be mistaken. (Then again, I could be wrong about that.) The "open society" basically refers to a "test and evaluate" approach to social engineering. Regarding "open society," Roy Childs writes, "Since the Second World War, most of the Western democracies have followed Popper's advice about piecemeal social engineering and democratic social reform, and it has gotten them into a grand mess.”

In 1956 Soros moved to New York City where he worked on Wall Street and started amassing his fortune. He specialized in hedge funds and currency speculation. Soros is absolutely ruthless, amoral, and clever in his business dealings, and he quickly made his fortune. By the 1980's he was well on his way to becoming the global powerhouse that he is today.

In an article Kyle-Anne Shiver wrote for The American Thinker she says, “Soros made his first billion in 1992 by shorting the British pound with leveraged billions in financial bets and became known as the man who broke the Bank of England. He broke it on the backs of hard-working British citizens who immediately saw their homes severely devalued and their life savings cut drastically, almost overnight.”

In 1994 Soros crowed in The New Republic, that “the former Soviet Empire is now called the Soros Empire.” The Russia-gate scandal in 1999, which almost collapsed the Russian economy, was labeled by Rep. Jim Leach, then head of the House Banking Committee, to be “one of the greatest social robberies in human history. “The “Soros Empire” indeed. In 1997 Soros almost destroyed the economies of Thailand and Malaysia. At the time, Malaysia's Prime Minister, Mahathir Mohammad, called Soros “a villain, and a moron.” Thai activist Weng Tojirakarn said, “We regard George Soros as a kind of Dracula. He sucks the blood from the people.”

The website Greek National Pride reports, “[Soros] was part of the fullcourt press that dismantled Yugoslavia and caused trouble in Georgia, Ukraine and Myanmar [Burma]. Calling himself a philanthropist, Soros' role is to tighten the ideological stranglehold of globalization and the New World Order while promoting his own financial gain. He is without conscience; a capitalist who functions with absolute amorality.”

France has upheld an earlier conviction against Soros for felony insider trading. Soros was fined 2.9 million dollars. Recently, his native Hungary fined Soros 2.2 million dollars for “illegal market manipulation.” Elizabeth Crum writes that the Hungarian economy has been in a state of transition as the country seeks to become more financially stable and westernized. [Soros'] deliberately driving down the share price of its largest bank put Hungary's economy into a wicked tailspin, one from which it is still trying to recover.

My point here is that Soros is a planetary parasite. His grasp, greed, and gluttony have a global reach. But what about America? Soros told Australia's national newspaper The Australian, “America, as the centre of the globalized financial markets, was sucking up the savings of the world. This is now over. The game is out,” he said, adding that the time has come for “a very serious adjustment” in American's consumption habits. He implied that he was the one with the power to bring this about.” Soros: “World financial crisis was “stimulating” and “in a way, the culmination of my life's work.”

Obama has recently promised 10 billion of our tax dollars to Brazil, in order to give them a leg-up in expanding their offshore oil fields. Obama's largesse towards Brazil came shortly after his political financial backer, George Soros, invested heavily in Brazilian oil (Petrobras).

Tait Trussel writes, “The Petrobras loan may be a windfall for Soros and Brazil, but it is a bad deal for the U. S. The American Petroleum Institute estimates that oil exploration in the U S could create 160,000 new, well-paying jobs, as well as $1.7 trillion in revenues to federal, state, and local governments, all while fostering greater energy security and independence.”

A blog you might want to keep an eye on is SorosWatch.com .Their mission: “This blog is dedicated to all who have suffered due to the ruthless financial pursuits of George Soros. Your stories are many and varied, but the theme is the same: the destructive power of greed without conscience. We pledge to tirelessly watch Soros wherever he goes and to print the truth in the hope that he will one day be made to stop preying upon the world's poor, that justice will be served.”

Back to America. Soros has been actively working to destroy America from the inside out for some years now. People have been warning us. Two years ago, news sources reported that “Soros [is] an extremist who wants open borders, a one-world foreign policy, legalized drugs, euthanasia, and on and on. This is off-the-chart dangerous.” In 1997

Rachel Ehrenfeld wrote, “Soros uses his philanthropy to change or more accurately, deconstruct the moral values and attitudes of the Western world, and particularly of the American people. His “open society” is not about freedom; it is about license. His vision rejects the notion of ordered liberty, in favor of a PROGRESSIVE ideology of rights and entitlements.”

Perhaps the most important of these “whistle blowers” are David Horowitz and Richard Poe. Their book The Shadow Party outlines in detail how Soros hijacked the Democratic Party, and now owns it lock, stock, and barrel. Soros has been packing the Democratic Party with radicals and ousting moderate Democrats for years. The Shadow Party became the Shadow Government, which recently became the Obama Administration.

Discover The Networks.org (another good source) writes, “By his [Soros'] own admission, he helped engineer coups in Slovakia, Croatia, Georgia, and Yugoslavia . When Soros targets a country for “regime change,” he begins by creating a shadow government, a fully formed government-in-exile, ready to assume power when the opportunity arises. The Shadow Party he has built in America greatly resembles those he has created in other countries prior to instigating a coup.”

The November 2008 edition of the German magazine Der Spiegel, in which Soros gives his opinion on what the next POTUS (President of the U. S.) should do after taking office. “I think we need a large stimulus package.” Soros thought that around 600 billion dollars would be about right. Soros also said that, “I think Obama presents us a great opportunity to finally deal with global warming and energy dependence. The U. S. needs a cap-and-trade system with auctioning of licenses for emissions rights.”

Although Soros doesn't (yet) own the Republican Party, like he does the Democrats, make no mistake, his tentacles are spread throughout the Republican Party as well.

Soros is a partner in the Carlyle Group where he has invested more than 100 million dollars. According to an article by The Baltimore Chronicle's Alice Cherbonnier, the Carlyle Group is run by “a veritable who's who of former Republican leaders,” from CIA man Frank Carlucci, to CIA head [and ex-President] George Bush, in late 2006, Soros bought about 2 million shares of Halliburton, Dick Cheney's old stomping grounds. When the Democrats and Republicans held their conventions in 2000, Soros held Shadow Party conventions in the same cities, at the same time. In 2008, Soros donated $5,000,000,000 (that's five billion) to the Democratic National Committee, DNC, to insure Obama's win and wins for many other Alinsky-trained Radical Rules, Anti-American Socialists. George has been contributing a billion dollars plus to the DNC since Clinton came on the scene.

Soros has dirtied both sides of the aisle, trust me. And if that weren't bad enough, he has long held connections with the CIA. And I mustn't forget to mention Soros' involvement with the MSM (Main Stream Media), the entertainment industry (e.g., he owns 2.6 million shares of Time Warner), and the various political advertising organizations to which he funnels millions. In short, George Soros controls or influences most of the MSM. Little wonder they ignore the TEA PARTY, Soros's NEMESIS. As Matthew Vadum writes, “The liberal billionaire-turned-philanthropist has been buying up media properties for years in order to drive home his message to the American public that they are too materialistic, too wasteful, too selfish, and too stupid to decide for themselves how to run their own lives.”

Richard Poe writes, “Soros' private philanthropy, totaling nearly $5billion, continues undermining America's traditional Western values. His giving has provided funding of abortion rights, atheism, drug legalization, sex education, euthanasia, feminism, gun control, globalization, mass immigration, gay marriage and other radicalexperiments in social engineering.”

Some of the many NGOs (Non-Government Organizations) that Soros funds with his billions are: MoveOn.org the Apollo Alliance (which wrote the Stimulus bill), Media Matters for America, the Tides Foundation, the ACLU, ACORN, PDIA (Project on Death In America), La Raza, and many more. For a more complete list, with brief descriptions of the NGOs, go to DiscoverTheNetworks.org

Poe continues, “Through his global web of Open Society Institutes and Open Society Foundations, Soros has spent 25 years recruiting, training, indoctrinating and installing a network of loyal operatives in 50 countries, placing them in positions of influence and power in media, government, finance and academia.”

Without Soros' money, would Saul Alinsky's Chicago machine still berolling? Would SEIU, ACORN, and La Raza still be pursuing their nefarious activities? Would Big Money and lobbyists still be corrupting-government? Would our college campuses still be retirement homes for 1960s radicals?

America stands at the brink of an abyss, and that fact is directly attributable to Soros. Soros has vigorously, cleverly, and insidiously planned the ruination of America and his puppet, Barack Obama is leading the way.

The words of Patrick Henry are apropos: “Is life so dear, or peace so sweet, as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery? Forbid it, almighty God! I know not what course others may take, but as for me, give me liberty, or give me death!”

Simple but true...Lord, Lord, its me. We are getting older and things are getting bad here.

Gas prices are too high, food and heating costs too high. No jobs.

The weather around the country has gone crazy, tornados, floods, droughts, intense snow storms. I know some have taken you out of our schools, government & even Christmas, but Lord I'm asking you to come back and re-bless America . We really need you!

There are more of us who want you than those who don't!

If the Lord doesn't come soon, will H find a true believer left?

I know you think you are ready; but, will you please confirm it wuith Him just once more?

Alamogordo's number for all of the answers - Call Tim today

From the Desk of TIMCARS "The Auto Selection Specialist" tm Introducing and let's welcome Tim CARS to Alamogordo.

THE UNCOMMONLY RESOURCEFUL AUTO INFORMATION PROVIDER.

At last a live person that seeks to answer your questions about buying or selling automobiles. Without the façade of "YES" come on down, or "If I could would you?" Straight answers to simple questions.

TimCARS, How did you come by calling or getting named The Auto Selection Specialist? Or The uncommonly resourceful auto information provider?

Too many years in the auto industry and miles on my feet.

Why and what can you offer people who may call you?

I offer Choices, options, opportunity, to save time and money or locate desired automobile or to reestablish credit, sell a car or simply determine options as a 20 year veteran of the auto industry.

So your intent is to sell cars to people?

Absolutely, 100% of nothing is nothing.

Why should people call you vs. going to the local dealer or buying through the paper?

To possibility think, explore options, to understand from a dealer's perspective, bankers perspective and real life, ability wants needs and desires, through options.

So you are a car dealer?

No, however I work with dealers, understand the processes, lingo and objectives. Through verbalized possibility thinking, formatting a plan. Consumers can save time and money.

Is now a good or bad time to buy a car?

Good question, because there are circumstances in which it is the best time to purchase as well as situations which heed caution.

So, if I called you and said I wanted to buy a car, would you sell me one?

I would try. Let's face it – if everyone who went to a car lot bought a car, everyone would have fleets of automobiles. The rule is 10/3/1. For very 10 people who visit the lot, 3 will drive and only 1 will purchase.

Is it true car sales people make a lot of money?

Better to say car people work a lot of hours; 10, 12 each day, 6 even 7 days a week. As for the money, it is subjective to effort, education, follow up, presentation, selection and luck. New car dealers today operate on a 3 or 4 percent margin. With access to information and changing buying trends, sales commissions vary. Let's not forget, the auto industry as a whole employs 1 out of every 5 people in the U.S., so sales drive the nation economically.

What is the single most valuable piece of information you can share with consumers to avoid a bad deal?

I would like to do this again and perhaps share personal examples of buyer beware cautions; although seeking to answer your question, the number one pitfall to avoid, and there are a few, would be to avoid traveling to so-called sales by out-of-state dealers who say you've won gimmicks or prize giveaways. Shop local and with licensed, bonded dealers who employ people within our community. Wait for the one you want,

SAD BUT TRUE

by
Wes Bush

The condition of party politics can best be described with just one word.

“Broken!”

A few dozen decades have rendered it no longer viable; but, there are many other factors that have brought it to a standstill.

- The World Wide Web
- The Internet
- Tweeter
- Facebook
- Google

And the worst of all, THE MAINSTREAM MEDIA

With all of the continual chatter one can easily determine that parties are no longer needed to obtain a government that functions perfectly; and, while we are at it, let’s do away with terms like, Socialist, Communist, Liberal, Conservative, racist (I said it as quietly as I could and you still be able to read it) and, what the heck, let’s rid ourselves of Republican and Democrat, as well.

Then, what about the Czars, Lobbyists, Insiders, Politicians, Bureaucrats, Palm Greasers, AND OH YES, THE INCUMBANTS AND THE NEW COMERS TO D.C. LET’S GET RID OF THEM ALL!

Well, I finally said it, LET’S GET RID OF THEM ALL!

OOP’s, I forgot the EPA, the FDA, the IRS, the DVR, the DPHR, the WFC, the DOE. Shucks it won’t make no difference whether ya rid us of them or no, I can’t remember all 75,000 plus of them anyway. LET’S GET RID OF THEM ALL!

It’s time to start over; and now that each of are so smart, surely we can come up with a system that requires no government! Unless I am mistaken, God’s government in the Garden of Eden lasted but a while; then, Adam & Eve are reported to have had a conversation with an ‘outsider’ and this whole UN-GODLY mess began when God threw them out his country.

Why, I’ll bet that the Garden is still as lush and habitable as it was back then. God refused to allow them to destroy His land; and He didn’t need the Land Bureau and the ‘Greenies’ to help him throw them out either. He simply sent them packi’n.

You know, perhaps we should take a closer look at his method and instead of just ordering the whole bunch of them to change, LET’S DEPORT THEM!

OOP’s again, I forgot that thing called citizenship; and, the American policy of “Once your in, YOUR IN, baby! What a great policy it is. All you have to do is set foot on American soil and it your’s for life.

So, what are we to do. Maybe we should just put up with it as it is. We’ve been trying to change it for more than a hundred years, while we’ve been getting so smart, and all; and, we haven’t been able to, even with our high IQ’s and wonderful ideas.

But, one thing about it, I refuse to be a Democrat or a Republican! They will never change. What I’m going to do is simply stay away from the polls. That’s bound to make me feel better. I know it won’t solve the problem; but, it is bound to make me feel a whole lot better about the whole thing. You know why? If I don’t get involved in it I can shout, IT’S ALL THE VOTERS FAULT!

NEW SCHOOL PRAYER

A kid in Arizona wrote a new school prayer to sidestep the redicul9ous seperation of church and state lawas concerning prayer in school.

Now I sit me down in school,
Where praying is against the rule.
For this great nation under God,
Finds mention of Him very odd.

If Scripture now the class recites,
It violates the Bill of Rights.
And anytime my head I bow,
Becomes a federal mattter now.

Our hair can be purple, orange or green,
That’s no offense, it’s a freedom scene.
The law is specific, the law is precise,
Prayers spoken aloud are a serious vice.

For praying in a public hall,
Might offend someone with no faith at all.
In silence alone we must meditate,
God’s name is prohibited by the state.

We’re allowed to cuss and dress like freeks, and pierce our noses, tongues and cheeks.
They’ve outlawed guns, but FIRST the Bible,
To quote the Good Book makes me liable.

We can elect a pregnant Senior Queen,
And the ‘unwed daddy,’ our Senior King.
It’s “inappropriate” to teach right from wrong,
We’re taught that such “judgements” do not belong.

We can get our condoms and birth controls,
Study witchcraft, vampires and totem poles.
But the Ten Commandments are not allowed,
No Word of God must reach this crowd.

It’s scary here I must confess,
When chaos reigns the school’s a mess.
So, Lord, this silent plea I make,
Should I be shot; My soul please take!

DON OMEY SHARES!

by DON OMEY
Former Coordinator of the Otero County Tea Party

Just in case you haven't heard this before.

The 16th amendment and the income tax are evils the American public has come to accept as normal and perhaps necessary to live in the modern age. There are a few things about this unnecessary burden that are worth visiting.

The constitution of 1789 barred the income tax. It raised its ugly head in our history more than once, notably in the mid 1800's. The office of Commission of Internal Revenue was established, was eliminated, revived for a short time and in 1895 was declared unconstitutional.

In 1913 the 16th amendment to the constitution made income tax a permanent fixture in the U.S. tax system. Withholding tax on wages was introduced in 1943 and some very patriotic citizens regarded this action as a friendly way to collect the tax. Since many taxpayers received some money back from the govt. after payment in April, they felt the withholding feature was a sort of savings acct. provided by the govt.

The 16th amendment is indeed evil in its intent and execution because its purpose from the beginning was social engineering, redistribution from the achievers to the takers and enforced by the most thorough, unfeeling, and brutal collection agency in the U.S.

Our govt. has made the average citizen think it's acceptable and proper for the IRS to put its fingers in our pockets and our pay envelopes. But when govt. has too much money/power, it dictates to states, cities, and schools by withholding funds if its laws, rules, or whims are not obeyed. No one can stand up to any institution from which they must beg for grants-in-aid. The govt. can demand subservience from states, governors, legislators, and congressmen, to cooperate fully with "central govt." Thus, the income tax is destroying society because in a true Republic, sovereignty lives in the citizens who can stand up to the govt.

Freedoms won by Americans in 1776 were lost in the revolution of 1913. Socialism is made possible by the income tax and is resisted by thousands of volunteers who advocate for the FAIR TAX. The FAIR TAX legislators would rid us of the 16th amendment, income tax, and bloated govt. The FAIR TAX is a consumer tax paid at retail, collected by the state, and breaks our connection to Washington D.C. Opponents to the FAIR TAX say they doubt the set amount of tax will collect enough revenue, but ignore the fact that it will collect from the millions who pay no income tax now, including drug dealers, porn dealers and other illegal forms of income. Freedom lovers can go to info@fairtax.org to learn more about a system that will fund everything the income tax funds including SS and Medicare and gets rid of loopholes and class warfare. It's worth investigating and supporting

The wait for a location has been long, however, God has blessed with His mighty hand of grace and mercy. Abundance is now complete, that is, with its first retail location. Abundance will open, officially, on Monday, June 20th, 2011 at 3:00 p.m. The last several weeks has been a very exciting time in deed. God has brought soooooo many things together in a "perfect" and an exceedingly fast way! I am really excited! My God is truly an AWESOME God!

Many may not know that I started in the health and nutrition industry right after college. Dad and Mom purchased a health food store in December of 1984. From there, I have spent the better part of my life in the health and nutrition field.

WOW! This has been really exciting and I greatly enjoy the "natural" products industry. My customers are and have been such a blessing to me over the years. I especially enjoy the one on one times that we get to talk together and those times that we can pray together before God's righteous throne. The friendships that form over the years are wonderfully special. My God has blessed me in knowing many people here in Alamogordo, New Mexico and in several different states. I am blessed. Thank you my God, my Jesus!

I look forward to all that God will do and bless in the weeks, months and years to come. Did I say that I am really excited? This is totally a big "piece" of who I am. However, my God is my "life", my "truth" and my "way". May all that I do in my life and at Abundance bring glory, honor and praise to my God. He must increase and I must decrease.

REMEMBER THIS LADY

I have to come out of isolation for a moment to pass this on! It is so timely due to that person occupying the White House thinking he speaks for Americans and projecting his OWN agenda and that of his anti-Semitic anti-christian junta one must read this and pass it on! This is another one of those moments in history that in itself might not look that important but it WILL have earth shattering consequences by next year. Not only does it remove support for the only stabilized country in the region but empowers the enemies of Israel, the US and any allies, muslim, Christian and Jewish.

Growing up in the Fifties I only knew two people with tattoos, my Uncle's hula dancer, he was on destroyers in the pacific and the lady who was in the delicatessen, who spoke with an accent, she had the strangest numbers on her forearm. This gave a kid an education when he asked about it.

Look at this lady - Let us never forget!

The world hasn't just become wicked...it's always been wicked. The prize doesn't always go to the most deserving.

There recently was a death of a 98 year-old lady named Irena Sendler.

During WWII, Irena, got permission to work in the Warsaw ghetto, as a Plumbing/Sewer specialist.

She had an 'ulterior motive'. She KNEW what the Nazi's plans were for the Jews (being German).

Irena smuggled infants out in the bottom of the tool box she carried and she carried in the back of her truck a burlap sack, (for larger kids).

She also had a dog in the back that she trained to bark when the Nazi soldiers let her in and out of the ghetto.

The soldiers of course wanted nothing to do with the dog and the barking covered the kids/infants noises.

During her time of doing this, she managed to smuggle out and save 2500 kids/

One of the pope's titles, Pontifex Maximus, means "supreme bridge builder". This title was formerly held by the pagan high priests of Rome and the Roman emperors, until the Christian emperor Gratian renounced it.

Saint Wilborada was an anchoress who warned the monks of St. Gall of an impending Hungarian invasion. However, being an anchoress, she was walled into a small cell and unable to escape, and so was martyred by the Hungarians.

THE BONE YARD

JOHN Q. PUBLIC vs. VOLCANO

Forwarded by Dr. Will May, Chiropractor

Ah yes. As we suspected all along. For the climate change believers Professor Ian Plimer could not have said it better! If you've read his book you will agree!

Here is a good summary. Telling It Like It Is! - Are you sitting down?

The volcanic eruption in Iceland, since its first spewing of volcanic ash has, in just FOUR DAYS, NEGATED EVERY SINGLE EFFORT you have made in the past five years to control CO2 emissions on our planet - all of you. Of course you know about this evil carbon dioxide that we are trying to suppress - it's that vital chemical compound that every plant requires to live and grow, and to synthesize into oxygen for us humans, and all animal life.

I know, it's very disheartening to realize that all of the carbon emission savings you have accomplished while suffering the inconvenience and expense of

- * Driving Prius hybrids,
- * Buying fabric grocery bags,
- * Sitting up till midnight to finish your kid's "The Green Revolution" science project,
- * Throwing out all of your non-green cleaning supplies,
- * Using only two squares of toilet paper,
- * Putting a brick in your toilet tank reservoir,
- * Selling your SUV and speedboat,
- * Vacationing at home instead of abroad,

* Nearly getting hit every day on your bicycle,

Replacing all of your 50 cent light bulbs with $10.00 light bulbs... etc.!

Well, all of those things you have done have all gone down the tubes in just four days. The volcanic ash emitted into the Earth's atmosphere in just four days - yes - FOUR DAYS ONLY by that volcano in Iceland, has totally erased every single effort you have made to reduce the evil beast, carbon. And there are around 200 active volcanoes on the planet spewing out this crud any one time - EVERY DAY.

I don't really want to rain on your parade too much, but I should mention that when the volcano Mt Pinatubo erupted in the Philippines in 1991, it spewed out more greenhouse gases into the atmosphere than the entire human race had emitted in all its YEARS on earth. Yes folks, Mt Pinatubo was active for over one year - think about it.

Of course I shouldn't spoil this touchy-feely tree-hugging moment and mention the effect of solar and cosmic activity and the well-recognized 800-year global heating and cooling cycle, which has a diversified economy, is business-friendly and has low taxes.

President Barack Obama and members of Congress bemoan our nation's dreary economic situation while contemplating increasing taxes and implementing burdensome legislation and standing idly by while government agencies impose oppressive regulation without the Constitutional authority to do so.

The quickest way to kick start the economy and return to Constitutional governance is to take an axe to government. I'm not talking about slowing the growth of government, which in legislative doublespeak is called a cut. I'm talking about taking draconian measures like eliminating unconstitutional agencies the Departments of Education, Energy and Homeland Security, the Transportation Security Administration, the Food and keep happening, despite our completely insignificant efforts to affect climate change.

And I do wish I had a silver lining to this volcanic ash cloud but the fact of the matter is that the bush fire season across the western USA and Australia this year alone will negate your efforts to reduce carbon in our world for the next two to three years.

And it happens every year. Just remember that your government just tried to impose a whopping carbon tax on you on the basis of the bogus "human-caused" climate change scenario. Hey, isn't it interesting how they don't mention "Global Warming" any more, but just "Climate Change" - you know why?

It's because the planet has COOLED by 0.7 degrees in the past century and these global warming bull artists got caught with their pants down.

And just keep in mind that you might yet have an Emissions Trading Scheme - that whopping new tax - imposed on you, that will achieve absolutely nothing except make you poorer. It won't stop any volcanoes from erupting, that's for sure. But hey, relax, give the world a hug and have a nice day!

PS: I wonder if Iceland is buying carbon offsets?

Sent by John...Thanks !

"May the Lord bless you and keep you, may the Lord make His face shine upon you, and be gracious to you; may the Lord turn His face toward you, and give you peace!" Numbers 6:24-26

Editor: As with everything born of fear, global climate change is a lie of the devil; and, is being used by extremists for the purpose of making large amounts of money selling books, lecturing and scamming.

Drug Administration and the Corporation for Public Broadcasting for starters closing down military bases around the world, ending the perpetual wars and bringing all troops home, phasing out social welfare programs and eliminating funding for Leftist boondoggles like the National Endowment for the Arts.

After that, how about we close down the Federal Reserve, return to a gold standard and repeal the 16th Amendment and end the income tax and 17th Amendment while we're at it?

Government types and socialists is that redundant? hear suggestions like this and wail. But slashing government and ending its ability to debase the currency would be a giant leap toward Constitutional governance.

Anything less is continued support of tyranny.

WORTHREADING AGAIN

The U.S. Census is beginning to release some figures from the 2010 count and there are some tidbits of interest there.

One is the fact that seven of the nine states that do not have a state income tax grew faster than the national average, as noted by Michael Barone in washingtonexaminer.com. The other two, South Dakota and New Hampshire, had the fastest growth in their regions.

High tax, big government socialist types like to spout the nonsense that the tax structure does not influence business or residency decisions. But 35 percent of the nation's total population growth from 281,421,906 in 2000 to 308,745,538 in 2010 occurred in those nine states. And Texas the state with the greatest growth

NEW WEBSITE ANNOUNCED

Greetings to all our Brothers & Sisters in the Lord! (AKA: Fellow Warriors) We would like to take this opportunity to introduce our newest website page; "RAINBOW POLITICAL SPOTLIGHT".

The Rainbow gang has grown agitated and frustrated at the lack of unity and organization within our Christian family. Our aim is to give you some of the tools to educate yourself on some of the current issues that confront today's Christians.

Please take time to surf the provided links of some of our fellow Christian warriors. We at Winning Back The Rainbow Ministries believe that is not all about the Rainbow Gang and what we can do. More importantly it's about promoting the gospel of Jesus Christ and the work He finished on the cross.

This is why we have chosen to join force with other websites by providing their links. There is power in unity as we move together as one. Click here to go to our website:

Continued from page 8 - Abundant Nutrition is one step, one beautiful and giant step, forward. I have so many ideas for the future of Abundance. I would like to thank everyone that has supported and encouraged me over the years. Thank you.

I have an associate that will be actively helping with Abundance. His name is Rickey and he has spent several years within the health and nutrition industry. We have actively worked together for several years in this field.

At this time we do not have a set schedule for hours of operation. Hopefully, that will get settled in the next several weeks. Looking to God to answer over this matter and request. Yet, we will have weekly hours posted soon. "One step at a time sweet Jesus, that's all I'm asking of you..." I really like those words. SEE YOU SOON.....Brian

One final thought. That I may know Him (Jesus), and the power of His resurrection, and the fellowship of His sufferings, being made conformable unto His death.... God's word Philippians 3:10

Do you know my Jesus as your LORD and savior? If you would like to, please call me. Brian 575-921-1995

The Cochus Patch

While suturing a cut on the hand of a 75 year old rancher, who's hand was caught in the gate while working cattle, the doctor struck up a conversation with the old man...Eventually the topic got around to Obama and his role as our president.

The old rancher said, 'Well, ya know, Obama is a 'Post Turtle'..

Not being familiar with the term, the doctor asked him what a 'post turtle' was.

The old rancher said, 'When you're driving down a country road and you come across a fence post with a turtle balanced on top, that's a 'post turtle'.

The old rancher saw the puzzled look on the doctor's face so he continued to explain.

"You know he didn't get up there by himself, he doesn't belong up there, he doesn't know what to do while he's up there, he's elevated beyond his ability to function, and you just wonder what kind of dumb ox put him up there to begin with."

Identify the problem

A policeman had a perfect spot to watch for speeders, but was not getting many.

Then, he discovered the problem; a 10 year old boy was standing up the road with a hand painted sign which read, "SPEED TRAP AHEAD".

The officer then found a young accomplice down the road with a sign painted "TIPS" and a bucket of change.

SAY WHUT?

This hillbilly is traveling across Texas when a state policeman pulls him over.

"You got any I.D.?" the patrolman asked."

"'Bout whut?" the hillbilly replied.

If I agreed with you we'd both be wrong.

The early bird might get the worm, but the second mouse gets the cheese.

I think that our politicians can learn a few things here.

Will Rogers said - "Never squat while wearing your spurs"

Will Rogers, who died in a 1935 plane crash, was one of the greatest political sages this country has ever known. Enjoy the following:

1. Never slap a man who's chewing tobacco.
2. Never kick a cow chip on a hot day.
3. There are two theories to arguing with a woman
Neither works.
4. Never miss a good chance to shut up.
5. Always drink upstream from the herd.
6. If you find yourself in a hole, stop digging.
7. The quickest way to double your money is to fold it and put it back into your pocket.
8. There are three kinds of men: The ones that learn by reading. The few who learn by observation.
9. The rest of them have to pee on the electric fence and find out for themselves.
10. Good judgment comes from experience, and a lot of that comes from bad judgment.
11. If you're riding' ahead of the herd, take a look back every now and then to make sure it's still there
12. Lettin' the cat outta the bag is a whole lot easier'n puttin' it back.
13. After eating an entire bull, a mountain lion felt so good he started roaring. He kept it up until a hunter came along and shot him.

The moral: When you're full of bull, keep your mouth shut.

ABOUT GROWING OLDER...

First ~Eventually you will reach a point when you stop lying about your age and start bragging about it

Second ~ The older we get, the fewer things seem worth waiting in line for.

Third ~ Some people try to turn back their odometers. Not me; I want people to know 'why' I look this way. I've traveled a long way, and some of the roads weren't paved.

Fourth ~ When you are dissatisfied and would like to go back to youth, think of Algebra.

Fifth ~ You know you are getting old when everything either dries up or leaks.

Sixth ~ I don't know how I got over the hill without getting to the top. Seventh ~ One of the many things no one tells you about aging is that it's such a nice change from being young.

Eighth ~ One must wait until evening to see how splendid the day has been.

Ninth ~ Being young is beautiful, but being old is comfortable.

Tenth ~ Long ago, when men cursed and beat the ground with sticks, It was called witchcraft. Today it's called golf.

And, finally ~ If you don't learn to laugh at trouble, you won't have anything to laugh at when you're old.

I went to my doctor yesterday. After a long wait in the outer office, my name was finally called. When I got into the examining room, the nurse pointed to the scale and said, "I need to get your weight today."

I immediately replied, "ONE HOUR AND 5 MINUTES."

The doctor's office was crowded as usual, but the doctor was moving at his usual snail's pace. After waiting two hours, an old man slowly stood up and started walking toward the door.

"Where are you going?" the receptionist called out.

"Well," he said, "I figured I'd go home and die a natural death."

Our supply clerk at the factory was in a dither. A box had been left on the loading dock with this warning printed on it: "Danger! Do Not Touch!"

Management was called, and we were told to stay clear of the box until it could be analyzed. When the foreman arrived, he donned safety goggles and gloves, and then he carefully opened the box.

Inside were 25 signs that read: Danger! Do Not Touch!

After a long and serious operation, Lena ended up in a coma. Try as they might, the doctors just couldn't bring her out of it. When her husband Ralph came into the intensive care unit to see her, the doctors gave him the bad news.

"We just can't wake her. It doesn't look good I'm afraid," the doctor told Ralph in a quiet somber voice. Ralph looked at Lena and with a soft trembling voice said, "But doctor, she's so young. She's only 45."

"37," came the weak reply from Lena.

Outraged by the high charges that the computer service wanted for repair work, one employee asked her co-worker which service she used.

"My sons," was the reply. "They both have degrees in Computer science." "So you get that kind of work done for nothing," the friend marveled.

The co-worker smiled. "Actually, I figured that it cost me about $140,000 for my kids to fix my computer for free."

Voice mail was the man's sworn enemy. He never really understood how it worked. Finally he broke down and called the office operator to get instructions.

"I can send you an instruction sheet," the operator offered.

"Sure thing," the operator replied, "but fax it right back. It's my only copy."

My daughter is in the Navy and is assigned as an electrical officer on a carrier. Recently I asked her what her duties were. She answered, "To fix electrical problems."

When I asked what was considered an electrical problem on a carrier, she replied, "Anything you can't fix with a hammer."
